

Logile's store planning, execution and workforce management software and services work hard to deliver real results for retailers every day. We have some impressive recognitions, but we'll let our customers do the talking.

"We are running the lowest labor rate ever in our company, the highest sales per labor hour in the company's history, we have the highest customer satisfaction ever, and our safety incidences are at our lowest in company history."

- Manager, Customer Service

"Logile demonstrated their unique ability to improve our operating efficiency by generating very accurate sales and labor forecasts and by scheduling our hosts at the task level across all of our stores' departments.

The increased efficiency and more precise staffing will allow our hosts to spend more time engaging with guests and in making their shopping a true pleasure and not a task."

- Senior Vice President

"The team at Logile... those folks have great experience in retail and in the world of IT, and they bring together the grassroots relatedness to the business process."

- Business Process Engineering Leader

“Logile worked with us to configure their solution to meet our unique business needs. As a result, our store health enthusiasts have found the solution to be easy to use, helpful in streamlining communication, and effective for planning and executing activities that support their ability to deliver world-class and personalized customer service.”

- Vice President, Retail Operations

“The solutions have enabled us to improve our operating efficiency while simultaneously improving customer service throughout our stores. Our employees have also been delighted with Logile’s employee self-service solution that allows them to use their personal mobile devices to check their work schedules, submit time off requests, swap and bid on shifts, and to see their time clock entries, hours worked, and gross pay in real time.”

- Director, Workforce Management

We thank our customers for recognizing us in the 2020 RIS Software LeaderBoard.

Our solutions enable retailers to deliver the best service at the optimal cost for millions of consumers each day in more than 20,000 retail stores.
